So when I turned in that right turn to take that road, I immediately noticed that there were group of me, possibly drunk, possibly, and one of then tried to intercept my way. He stuck his hand out as if he was asking for a ride and kept asking me to stop. He saw me drivert from a longer distance and tried intercept again. I was riding fast so as the distance between us reduced I could quickly take a bigger diversion and avoid any physical contact, or crash. There were other people on the road they did notice what was going on but said nothing about it. After I crossed them I heard one of the other men say that "forget it she's wearing headphones" in kannada, I heard it because I didn't have any music on and the cord was not even connected to my phone. I quickly reached my pg and reported on the whatsApp group but it was a scary moment because God forbid it was a narrow road I would been in a much much worse situation, without being able to take that diversion.
